

The ongoing impact of child sexual abuse and the response of the leadership of the Catholic Church continues to do more harm than healing.

The public debate about George Pell's conviction is an ongoing expression of misuse of power and inadequate leadership from church, media, and political leaders. The ripple effect is despair, isolation and ongoing impact of trauma in the lives of so many individuals, in homes and in communities across Australia. Brisbane is no exception.

Join us in a Circle of Quietness as an act of solidarity with victims of abuse in the Catholic Church. We will gather at Lotus Place, 46 Cleveland St, Stones Corner, for four Thursday afternoons starting on March 21 to April 11th at 5.30pm for about an hour. You might like to bring some light refreshments to share as we conclude our time together.
