National Redress Scheme

The National Redress Scheme is a response to the Royal Commission into Institutional Responses to Child Sexual Abuse. The scheme commenced on the 1st July 2018 and will be open to applications until 30th June 2027. There are three components to the National Redress Scheme. They are an offer of a monetary payment, up to $150, 000, a Direct Personal Response, or apology from the institution, and access to counselling.

For someone's application to be processed the offending institution must be participating in the scheme. If an institution is not participating however the scheme still would like to hear from survivors as they may be able to compel an offending institution to join the scheme. If by 30 June 2020 an institution has failed to signify their intention to join the Scheme, they will be immediately publicly identified by the Scheme in accordance with Scheme legislation and jurisdictions will consider other appropriate action. This may include financial sanctions applied by state, territory or Commonwealth governments, and changes to an organisation's charitable status. Lotus Support Services, a team within Micah Projects, have been funded to provide application assistance and you are encouraged to make contact if you require any information or would like support to complete an application.

The Scheme is advising that applications may take up to twelve months to process although they are working on measures to reduce this wait time. There appears to have been an increase in offers being provided to applicants over the past several weeks and we are hopeful that this is a trend that will continue. It is important to note that all applicants have six months in which to consider an offer and may apply to extend this for a further six months. This gives one an opportunity to seek further advice or consider the offer. Also, of importance is the process of accepting an offer. If, at the time of offer, an applicant does not accept all components, being a monetary payment, counselling and an apology, they cannot go back later to change the acceptance. For example, if someone accepts a monetary payment but refuses an apology or counselling at the time one cannot then opt to receive the declined component in the future. If someone accepts all components it is then up to them when and if they wish to go ahead with the counselling or apology. We would encourage anybody in this situation to make contact with Lotus Support Services for further advice.

The National Redress Scheme is one form of acknowledgment of the abuse that individuals experienced in an institutional setting but there may be other options. These may include a church-based complaints process or a civil claim. In some circumstances it may be possible to explore multiple options. While some individuals may have received a payment through a redress process in the past this does not necessarily impact one's ability to explore current options. It is important that everyone is fully aware of their options and at Lotus Support Services we aim to help with that process. Please contact the team at Lotus Place or Lotus Support Services on (07) 3036 4490 for any further information.

The Garden Patch: Mother Of All Herbs

In this issue we take a look at the Mother of all Herbs also known by many other names; Queen of Herbs, Five in One Herb, Five Seasons Herb, Allherb, Country Borage, Indian Borage, Five Spice Herb, Chinese Three in One, Broad Leafed Thyme, Spanish Thyme, Spanish Sage, Puerto Rican Oregano.

Propagation is by cuttings or root division. Plant in well-drained soil, sun or shade. Plants tend to sprawl quite quickly, so are well suited to pots. It is ideal as an indoor foliage plant in an airy, warm position with plenty of light. Do not over-water, in fact this plant can be treated similar to a succulent.

Medicinal uses

Chew a leaf for sore throat and coughs. Make a tea for bronchitis, asthma, coughs, viral conditions, to relieve indigestion and stomach cramps, convulsions, as a liver tonic and for pain relief. A leaf can be rubbed or laid on the forehead, to relieve headaches.

Probably its most useful benefit is a leaf chopped in a cup of boiling water and drank as a tea to treat insomnia. Research was sufficient to say that it worked as well as traditional sleeping tablets!

If you would like a cutting please contact the office.

Shout out and thank you to Mick Butler for bringing in a cutting and the information about this herb!

The lotus flower has its origins and roots in the muddy waters below the surface, yet above the water it is a beautiful resilient flower.

After a consultative process the Lotus Flower was chosen as both a metaphor and image to represent the journey from adversity to hope.
